Pennsylvania Legislature.

Pension for Col. William Diehl—Vehicle License in Mt. Washington—Commercial Printing Company of Pittsburgh—Hickman's Proposed Constitutional Amendments Discussed in the House.

[Special Dispatch to Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, February 5, 1868.

SENATE.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

By Mr. ERRETT: Granting a pension to William Diehl, soldier of 1812.

Extending to the borough of Mount Washington the vehicle license law of March 30, 1860.

Also, authorizing appeals to the Supreme Court from decisions of Quarter Sessions in pauper cases.

BILLS PASSED FINALLY.

Changing the name of the Pittsburgh Newspaper and Printing Company of Pittsburgh to Commercial Printing Company of Pittsburgh and incorporating the same.

After the passage of several unimportant local bills, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. HICKMAN'S proposed Constitutional amendments, reducing the pay of Legislators to seven hundred dollars, striking the word "white" from the Constitution, and introducing the intelligence test for voters, were discussed till after dark.

The Committee had reported the first amendment with a negative recommendation, but inserted one thousand dollars instead of seven hundred.

Pending the discussion the House adjourned.

The subject is made the special order for Tuesday evening next.

The Free Railroad Bill—Election Frauds—Fraudulent Naturalization Papers—Rich Developments Before the Senate Committee.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Feb. 4, 1868.

The House will take up and get through with the Free Railroad law to-night. It will go to the Senate to-morrow, and will most probably pass that body pretty much in the shape it passes the House.

I notice that the correspondent of the Commercial gives Senator White, of Indiana, credit for drawing the Free Railroad bill of the Senate. The bill introduced by that Senator was simply the printed House bill of last year, changed only as to its title; and the Senate took that to engraft its amendments on, simply because of its title, which makes the law supplementary to that of 1849.

The developments in the contested election case before the Senate Committee grow richer and richer day by day. This afternoon the Democratic Prothonotary of Luzerne county was before the Committee. It seems that sixty men voted at one of the districts in Clearfield county, last fall, on naturalization certificates purporting to have been issued by the Court of Luzerne county on the 28th of September, 1866, and the names of these sixty voters being shown to the Prothonotary, and compared with his naturalization record of that date, he testified that not one of these men, or men with these names, were naturalized in that Court at that time. Being shown one of the naturalization certificates, he testified that the printed part was similar to the genuine blanks used by him, and that the seal on it looked like the impression of the genuine seal; but that the signature was not his, nor was the filling up in the handwriting of himself or any of his clerks.

Evidence, it is said, will be presented to show that the fraudulent certificates were issued in that county by the thousands, that at least thirty-six hundred of them were voted on in that county in 1866, and that they were sold openly in Scranton and Wilkesbarre for $1.75 each.

It has been generally supposed heretofore that these fraudulent certificates were sealed with an old seal thrown out of use in that county, and not with the new and genuine seal of that county, made to take its place; but the evidence of this Prothonotary went to show that this new seal was left in the Prothonotary's office in a cupboard with nothing but a common lock on the doors; and as the impression of the seal on the fraudulent paper shown him was, in his opinion, that of the genuine seal, we are shut up to the conclusion that the scoundrels who perpetrated these frauds, aware of the fact that their use of the old seal had been detected, surreptitiously obtained the new one and have used it ad libitem.

There can be little doubt that the State has been flooded with these fraudulent papers. Two Democratic State Senators were elected with them last fall. Judge Sharswood was elected by them. Judge Woodward was elected by them. And they intend to carry the State next fall with them, if their schemes are not counteracted.

It is impossible, yet, to determine the full extent of this fraud; but what we already know, and what is reported as being capable of proof, is enough to make every honest man stand aghast and almost despair of the possibility of maintaining a republican government.

It provides that it shall be lawful for a married woman, notwithstanding her coverture, to contract for the renting, payment of rent, and occupancy of any dwelling or store in the county of her residence, and any proceeding to recover the rent or the possession of said premises may be had or taken against the woman alone, and in any such proceeding no plea of coverture or disability for such cause shall be allowed, and judgment may be entered against the wife alone; Provided, however, That no such judgment shall constitute any liability against the husband.

The first section makes the officers and corporators competent to testify and to do all other acts for and against the corporation the same as persons not corporators or officers. The second section authorizes the corporation to borrow money, not exceeding in the aggregate $15,000, for a period not exceeding twenty years, and to issue bonds therefor in sums not exceeding one hundred dollars each, and to be free from all taxation. This bill passed the House on Tuesday.

The House Committee on Railroads have reported a supplement to the act of 8th April, 1867, incorporating the Monongahela Valley Railroad Company.

Section first gives authority to construct a railroad, single or double track, from a point at or near the city of Pittsburgh, by such route as the board of directors may determine, to a point at or near Monongahela City, Washington county, and thence up either bank of the Monongahela river to a point at or near what is known as Rice's landing, with power to construct such branches as the directors may deem necessary, and to connect all or either of them with any railroad or railroads now constructed and that may be hereafter constructed, and that the said company shall have authority to cross any railroad or railroads at a grade with its main railroad or its branches and extensions.

Section second provides that the company may extend its main railroad to the West Virginia State line, whenever the board of directors may deem it expedient and necessary, and there connect the same with any railroad or railroads authorized by the State of West Virginia.

Section third provides that a majority of the stockholders of the company, at a meeting called for that purpose, may increase the capital stock to such an amount as may be necessary to build and equip their railroad and its branches, and extends the time for the completion of the railroad five years.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

An act to incorporate the Pennsylvania Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals passed the House on Tuesday. It is a Philadelphia organization, the corporators named residing there. Among other corporate rights given the Association are allowed to receive legacies and hold real estate. The object is to provide effective means for the prevention of cruelty to animals throughout the State, and for the enforcement of all laws enacted for the protection of dumb animals.

POLITICAL.

New York State Republican Convention—Grant Preferred for President—Fenton for Vice President.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SYRACUSE, N. Y., February 5.—The Republican State Convention met to-day. Joshua M. Vancott, of Brooklyn, was chosen temporary Chairman.

The seats of delegates from New York City were contested. After a long discussion, in which considerable ascerbity was shown, the Radical delegates were admitted as members by a vote of two hundred and fifty-six to fifty-four, and the Conservative delegates invited to seats on the floor.

The Committee on Permanent Organization was appointed, who, after recess, reported Gen. Charles H. Van Wyck as President, with a list of Vice Presidents, including Horace Greeley, Waldo Hutchins and others.

The President made a long speech in support of the Congressional policy of reconstruction and the measures of the republican party. He denounced President Johnson's rebellion, alluded to Stanton as one of the purest of American patriots and one of the ablest American statesmen, and to Grant as the great Captain of the age. He condemned Seward's purchase of Indian villages and icebergs near the North Pole, and the home of floods and earthquakes. He hoped for the deliverance of Ireland; denounced Conservatism as having always stood in the way of the world's progress, eulogised radicalism, and concluded with the closing words of Lincoln at Gettysburg:—"We, if faithfully and fearlessly discharging our duty, may in our time rejoice in the full fruition and the complete realization that the government of the people by the people shall not perish from the earth."

A Committee on Resolutions was appointed, including Horace Greeley, John Cochrane and Lyman Tremaine, who, after a speech from Mr. Tremaine, reported resolutions re-affirming devotion to the principles of justice, equality and nationality, approving the reconstruction measures of Congress, declaring an unalterable purpose to maintain untarnished and inviolate the public faith and national credit, to lessen the burden of taxation by cutting off all useless expenditures, declaring their preference for Grant for President and Fenton for Vice President, instructing the delegates to vote as a unit at Chicago and to employ all honorable and proper means to secure those nominations, and giving thanks to the soldiers and sailors for the suppression of the rebellion. The resolutions were adopted by acclamation.

A Committee previously appointed to select delegates to the National Convention reported a full list and the report was adopted.

The following are the names of the delegates at large: Daniel Sickles, Lyman Tremaine, Charles Andrews, D. D. S. Brown.

Horace Greely was called for and in a few remarks warned the Convention against the danger of over-confidence. He said there were formidable obstacles to overcome, and promising to do his part in the canvass, urged all to work with a will and then they would win.

The Convention adjourned sine die.

NEW JERSEY.

JOEL PARKER SUGGESTED AS THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT.

TRENTON, February 5.—A caucus of the Democratic members of the New Jersey Legislature last night passed resolutions unanimously recommending the nomination of ex-Governor Joel Parker for the Presidency.

The rules governing the United States House of Representatives were adopted, with the exception that speeches should be limited to ten minutes, and no member should speak more than once on any subject.

After completing other preliminary business the Convention adjourned till ten o'clock to-morrow morning.

After the adjournment the delegates accepted an invitation to a grand sleigh ride about the city and suburbs, followed by a concert in Music Hall.

To-morrow afternoon the ladies of the delegates will have a sleigh ride, and in the evening a banquet will take place in Music Hall, by invitation of the city authorities.

LEADING CRETAN TURKS IN FAVOR OF ANNEXATION TO GREECE.

Advices received at Washington from Crete, to the 11th of January, state that the Turks acknowledged that Ali Pasha entirely failed in his mission, and it was believed he was ordered to return to Constantinople. Many of the Cretan Turks were beginning to express themselves favorably on the subject of an eventual annexation of the island to Greece.

Saba Pasha, the newly named Turkish Governor of Sphakia, was twice attacked by the people of the Province while proceeding to take possession of his command, and was compelled to retrace his steps after losing some of his followers.

Seven more Provinces had voted for a union with Greece.

The Cretans have at this day declared themselves, by 20,000 votes, free from the Sultan, forming a part of the dominion of King George.

The Russian vessels were engaged in saving women and children from the brutality of the soldiers.

ENGLAND.

JOHN BRIGHT ON IRELAND'S WRONGS.

LONDON, February 5.—At a great meeting at Birmingham yesterday Jno. Bright made a speech. He pleaded the wrongs of Ireland in part extenuation of the late Fenian outrages, and begged for church reform. Bright said there was nothing the United States Government could do if Ireland were part and parcel of the United States that England might not do if she would.

ARREST OF IRISH AMERICANS.

LONDON, February 5.—The London Times has an editorial to-day on the arrest of Irish Americans. It admits the imprisonment of Train at Cork was a mistake, but says it would be distinguished from the arrest of Irishmen who come over here with the secret intention of creating a revolt against the government.

CABMEN STRIKE IN LIVERPOOL.

LIVERPOOL, February 5.—The strike of the cabmen in this city still continues to the great annoyance of all classes. At present there is no prospect of a compromise.

ASSASSINATION IN LONDON.

LONDON, February 5.—Evening.—A man named Chatterton was shot in the street to-day and badly, if not fatally, wounded. The assassin was instantly arrested, and gave his name as Jim Meddies. From his declarations, it seems he mistook Chatterton for James Bird, the milkman, who is an important witness for the Government in the affair of the Clerkenwell explosion, and who at the examination before the police court identified one of them as the man that fired the powder. It is said Meddies is half witted and the belief is general he is the tool of other parties who prompted him to commit the deed. The shot took effect in the throat of Chatterton where it made an ugly wound. He still lives, but his recovery is doubtful.

IRELAND.

BAND OF FENIANS DISPERSED.

CORK, February 5.—Early this morning a considerable body of men, supposed to be Fenians, were discovered in the vicinity of Macroom Castle, about twenty miles west of this city. They appeared to be preparing to make an attack upon the Castle, and the authorities of the town of Macroom were notified of the danger. A strong force of police was forthwith ordered to the ground and as they appeared the Fenians dispersed in all directions.

ITALY.

ORDER OF THE POPE COUNTERMANDED.

FLORENCE, February 5.—The Pope having recently ordered the Catholic clergy to have the Te Deum sung in all the churches in Italy for the victory of the Papal arms at Mentana, King Victor Emanuel issued a proclamation prohibiting the holding of religious services for such purpose within the kingdom.

THE JUSTICE FIELD INVESTIGATION.

The New York Herald special says that Mr. Wilson, Chairman, testified before the Judiciary Committee that he had heard remarks of the tenor of those charged in the resolution under consideration fall from the lips of Chief Justice Chase, and Associate Justices Davis and Field. All these gentlemen had pronounced the pending reconstruction bill unconstitutional.

THE NEW BRITISH MINISTER.

Sir Edward Thornton, the new British Minister, was not presented to the President on Tuesday. Mr. Thornton, it appears, had made all his arrangements to meet the President at the time stated, and had so notified Mr. Seward. Tuesday morning the latter informed Mr. Thornton that circumstances had arisen on account of which it would be necessary to postpone the presentation. The British Minister is in profound ignorance as to what those circumstances are. It is well known, however, that the President wished to lay his views on the Alabama claims before the Cabinet previous to meeting Mr. Thornton, and this was the cause of the postponement.

FORTIETH CONGRESS.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, February 5, 1867.

SENATE.

Several Executive communications of no general interest were referred.

COUNSEL TO DEFEND GENS. MEADE AND RUGER.

Mr. HENDERSON presented a petition of the St. Louis Board of Trade praying a subsidy for a railroad as now granted to the Union Pacific Railroad.

Mr. HOWARD introduced a bill authorizing the Secretary of War to employ counsel in certain cases to defend Generals Meade and Ruger or any other officer proceeded against because of reconstruction acts. In reply to a question by Mr. Hendricks, he presented a letter from the Secretary of War, saying that those Generals had applied for counsel to defend them against the proceedings of Governor Jenkins.

Mr. HOWARD remarked that the Attorney General had on important occasions declined to appear and defend in the Supreme Court, and had thus prejudged the case.

Mr. SHERMAN thought the Attorney General, having openly committed himself against the constitutionality of a law, ought not to be called upon in any case under it, and he should not be censured because he had been required to advise the President in his judicial capacity in regard to this law.

Mr. JOHNSON fully agreed with the Senator from Ohio. The President or any Department had a right to call upon the Attorney General, who had acted in giving his opinion honestly, whether mistaken or not, and doubtless the Senator from Michigan would have acted in the same manner.

Mr. HOWARD said if the Attorney General was conscientiously of opinion the reconstruction laws were unconstitutional, the simple remedy for him is to resign. Congress would not force him into a Court against his convictions. He could allow some gentlemen to appear who would perform his duty.

Mr. DAVIS here recited the circumstances of the M'Ardle case, and claimed that the Attorney General could not do otherwise than he had.

Mr. HENDRICKS argued neither the Attorney General nor any other lawyer should sink his convictions for any purpose, and asked whether the Senate thought that gentleman should appear before a Court or a Cabinet in any case whatever, and maintain an act of Congress as law when he believed the Constitution to be law.

Mr. HOWARD said the Attorney General's opinion was given, when the bill was before the President, and before it passed by a two-third vote, and he again condemned the course of the Attorney General.

Mr. HENDRICKS asked if the passage of the bill by a two-third vote made it constitutional?

Mr. HOWARD—I think it does.

Mr. HENDRICKS continued, alluding to the employment of counsel at a large expense by departments heretofore, when authorized counsel was in Court. He believed this was simply an effort to make a parade before Congress and the country when no case was yet brought against the Generals.

After further discussion the resolution was adopted.

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. FESSENDEN offered a resolution directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the expediency of repealing or modifying the act of February, 1863, to supply vacancies in the Executive Departments in certain cases.

Mr. POMEROY introduced a bill to extend the pre-emption and homestead laws over certain lands therein named, and for other purposes. Referred.

Mr. HENDERSON introduced a bill to amend the act donating lands in certain States for the benefit of agricultural colleges and mechanical arts. Referred.

Mr. DRAKE offered a joint resolution for the relief of certain contractors for the construction of vessels of war and machinery. Referred.

Mr. ROSS presented a resolution of the State of Kansas praying for the extension of the jurisdiction of the Kansas Courts over Indian territory.

Also, a resolution for the sale of the Osage Indian Reservation. Referred.

Also, a resolution in regard to the protection of American citizens abroad. Referred.

Mr. MORTON introduced a petition on the same subject.

The Supplementary Reconstruction bill was taken up.

Mr. MORRILL, of Maine, spoke in its favor.

The House bill to forfeit railroad lands in the South was referred to Committee on Public Lands.

Without action the Senate adjourned.

On motion of Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, the Senate bill for the protection, in certain cases, of persons making disclosures as parties or testifying as witnesses, was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

FORFEITING SOUTHERN RAILROAD LANDS—THE BILL PASSED.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the bill declaring forfeited to the United States certain lands granted to aid in the construction of railroads in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Florida.

The amendment of Mr. ARNELL, to exempt from forfeiture lands of the Nashville and Decatur Railroad was agreed to. Yeas 87, nays 58.

Mr. TABOR moved to table the bill. Rejected—sixty-eight to eighty-four.

The amendment of Mr. PILE, to except the lands of the Alabama and Tennessee River Railroad Company, was not agreed to.

The bill then passed—yeas eighty-six, nays seventy-three.

Anderson, Arnell, Ashley, (Ohio,) Baker, Beaman, Beatty, Benton, Bingham, Boutwell, Broomall, (Pennsylvania,) Buckland, Butler, Cake, Cary, Churchill, Clark, (Ohio,) Clark, (Kansas,) Cobb, Coburn, Cook, Connell, Coltum, Donnelly, Eckley, Eggleston, Ela, Eliott, Farnsworth, Ferry, Fields, Garfield, Hardy, Higbee, Holman, Hopkins, Hunter, Judd, Julian, Kelly, Kelsy, Koontz, Lawrence, (Ohio,) Logan, Loughridge, Lynch, Maynard, McClurg, Mercer, Miller, Moore, Moorhead, Morrill, Myers, Newcomb, O'Neil, Orth, Payne, Perham, Pike, Palsely, Price, Raum, Sawyer, Schenck, Schofield, Shanks, Spalding, Stevens, (New Hampshire,) Stevens, (Pennsylvania,) Stokes, Taylor, Trimble, (Tennessee,) Trowbridge,) Upson, Van Aernam, Van Horn, (New York,) Van Horn, (Ohio,) Ward, Washburne, (Wisconsin,) Washburne, (Illinois,) Washburne, (Indiana,) Welker, Williams, (Indiana,) Wilson, (Iowa,) Wilson, (Ohio.)—Eighty-six.

Williams, (Pa.) Woodbridge, Woodward.—Seventy-three.

EXPATRIATION BILL.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the bill reported from the Committee on Foreign Affairs concerning the rights of American citizens in foreign States.

Mr. JUDD continued his speech in criticism of the bill, and read some extracts from letters received by him this morning from Germans in the west, asking why the bill made any distinction between native and adopted citizens. The exception made in the bill of persons escaping from conscription actually ordered would, he said, subject to arrest and conscription all Germans returning to their country who had emigated when under twenty-three years of age. The proposed redress in the second section, that of reprisals, Mr. Judd considered as a most remarkable provision in this very singular bill. As a means of redressing wrongs, the proposition was farce. As a mode of punishment, it was barbarism. It was at variance with all the principles recognized by modern civilized governments. No one could believe that any European government would fail to make such insecurity of any of its subjects a cause for immediate war. It would not even make the excuse which the Emperor of Abyssinia had for his seizure of Englishmen, for he charged them with being conspirators. Taking the bill altogether, it did not advance one step towards a practical remedy for the grievances of naturalized citizens. He did not believe any specific act of legislation by statute was the form in which to meet this question. Congress should pass a general declaration of what the law of the country is as to the perfect equality of native born and naturalized citizens, eligibility to the Presidency being the only exception, and of what the Government proposes to do in case of refusal to abide by such declaration. The declaration which he proposed would embrace the following:

First—That the government of the United States was established on the principle that every individual has an inalienable right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, and that as a means necessary to secure that right, express power to establish a uniform rule of naturalization was vested in Congress by the Constitution.

Second—That since 1790 that Constitutional power had been exercised by Congress.

Third—That by the Constitution and laws of the United States no distinction is made between the rights of citizenship belonging to native born citizens and to naturalized citizens, or in the protection due them from the Government, the solitary distinction being that the President must be native born.

Fourth—That the naturalization laws of the United States, in force since 1802, require an oath of abjuration of allegiance, and that hence the principles and doctrine of the English common law, and all other conflicting doctrines and principles on the subject, have been abolished within the jurisdiction of the United States.

Fifth—That against any exaction of military or other service or duty which the United States government should protect its native born citizens from, it is equally bound to afford assistance and redress to naturalized citizens.

Sixth—That the naturalization laws of the United States form part of its national and political system, in force for nearly three quarters of a century, and that all foreign governments are chargeable with notice thereof and acquiescence therein, which cannot now be controverted with due regard to the rights and dignity of the United States.

Seventh—Recites the abandonment since 1812 by Great Britain of its claim of right to impress as seamen, naturalized citizens of the United States.

Eighth—That the protection of naturalized citizens abroad cannot be trusted exclusively to the Executive Department, but should be enforced by imperative law.

Ninth—That naturalized citizens, charged with crime in a foreign land, are entitled to the protection of the United States to the extent that it shall see that the laws of such country are fairly and impartially administered without prejudice.

Tenth—That the United States government is bound to see that no United States citizen is tried or punished within a foreign jurisdiction for acts done or words uttered within the United States or in any other country except that wherein the prosecution is instituted.

Eleventh—That it is the duty of the government of the United States to demand the immediate discharge and release of all citizens restrained of their liberty in violation of the principles thus declared, and just reparation for the wrong any citizen has suffered, and that the Executive Department be instructed to carry out those doctrines and enforce these rights, and to report to Congress any refusal or neglect on the part of any foreign government to recognize the demand so made.

In conclusion, and in reply to some observations of Mr. Pruyn, he said he was for Congress saying that such and such rights existed, and that they should be observed by those nations with which the United States deal.

SPEECHES IN THE "GLOBE" NOT MADE IN THE HOUSE.

Mr. LOGAN, rising to a privileged question, called the attention of the House to the fact of his colleague (Mr. Marshall) having made some remarks on the question of whiskey meters on the 9th of January. The report thereof, to the extent of four columns and a quarter, was in the Globe of the 24th of January, which speech he said was never delivered in the House. He protested against any such proceeding. He recognized the first column as containing something which his colleague had said, after being dressed up, but the rest of it he did not recognize at all.

Mr. MARSHALL expressed his amazement at the course taken by his colleague. His colleague was a man of genius and classic education, and it was perhaps not necessary for him, as it was for most members, to revise and correct his notes, written out by the reporter. The speech, as published in the Globe, was the speech as delivered by him in the House, with some additions and modifications he admitted, but there was not a sentiment in the speech reported that had not been uttered by him in the House, and if any gentleman asserted the contrary he asserted what was not true. He admitted the additions and amplifications in carrying out the expressed ideas, and he understood that to be the universal custom of members.

Mr. SCHENCK disclaimed for himself any such practice and protested against such revision of reports, amplification and modification. If such latitude were allowed, the country could learn very little from the Globe of the proceedings of the House.

Mr. MARSHALL said such altercations were exceedingly unpleasant to him. He was conscious he had done nothing which was not sanctioned by constant practice of the House. He did not admit the right of his colleague, from any position he occupied in the House or before the country, to become his censor. He (Mr. Marshall) occupied a position which was not to be affected as a gentleman, or as a man by any remarks his colleague might make here or elsewhere.

Mr. CHANLER being entitled to the floor to speak on the bill concerning the rights of American citizens, addressed the chair.

Mr. LOGAN desired to make an additional remark.

Mr. CHANLER said he would yield for that purpose, if the gentleman would limit his remarks to five minutes.

Mr. LOGAN intimated the House, not the gentleman from New York, might impose a limitation.

Mr. CHANLER said if the gentleman would not accept his courtesy he would not yield to him at all.

Mr. LOGAN said he appealed to the courtesy of the House in the matter.

Mr. MARSHALL appealed to Mr. Chanler to withdraw his objection.

Mr. CHANLER said he would do so at the request of Mr. Marshall.

Mr. LOGAN referred to the insinuation which he said his colleague had made with such bitterness as to his (Mr. Logan's) being illiterate. He admitted he was not educated in any of the high colleges, neither was his colleague, but at all events he was educated in a town that had a church steeple, which was perhaps more than his colleague could say. (Laughter.)

After some further altercation, involving a direct contradiction of statements, the matter subsided.

SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The House proceeded to business on the Speaker's table, and referred all bills thereon, except that authorizing the Secretary of War to employ counsel to defend Generals in carrying out the reconstruction acts, which was passed. The vote was 114 to 37.

An Executive communication was received in relation to the famine in Sweden and Norway, and asking an appropriation for expense of the Surratt trial.

The House went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, in the Chair, on the Military Academy Appropriation bill, appropriating about $304,000.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, moved a proviso, requiring that all Cadets take the test oath. On a division, no quorum voting, the House adjourned.

SOUTHERN STATES.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

VIRGINIA.

RICHMOND, February 5.—In the Convention, the fifth section of the executive ordinance was adopted with an amendment requiring the assent of two-thirds of the members of the Legislature to call an extra session.

NORTH CAROLINA.

RALEIGH, Feb. 5.—The Convention to-day passed the relief measure, which has been under consideration two days, nearly as reported by the committee.

The Conservative Convention met to-day. About fifty are counties represented by about three hundred delegates. R. H. Smith, of Halifax, was temporary Chairman. W. H. Graham was chosen permanent President, with thirteen Vice Presidents. Editors in attendance were chosen Secretaries. The best spirit prevails, and many of the ablest men in the State are present.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, February 5.—In the Convention the bill of rights was read a first time. It is liberal in its provisions. Suffrage is asserted without qualifications. The Judiciary, with a few exceptions, to be elected by the people for terms ranging from one to four years. The entire judicial system of the State is changed and the expense of legal machinery greatly increased. A new penal code is to be prepared and revised decenially. The Constitution provides for a school system and compulsory attendance for twenty-four months of all children between six and sixteen. A reformatory school and an agricultural college are to be established. All schools and colleges to be supported by the public fund and be open to all irrespective of race or color.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, February 5.—The Convention to-day appointed a Committee to investigate the city charter and report the changes necessary. The vote yesterday on the question of mixed schools was almost unanimous. Articles 143 to 146, under the title of militia, were adopted to-day. Citizens disfranchised by the Reconstruction acts or the Constitution are not liable to militia duty. Militia officers shall take the oath prescribed for United States army officers and State officers. Article 146 prescribes the method of amending the Constitution, a majority of votes to ratify the amendment.

General Hancock has ordered the investigation of the charge of malfeasance in office against Street Commissioner Baker to be stopped, and directed the District Attorney to take charge of the matter and take such action as is proper and necessary proceeding by course of law. Baker was removed from office and George D. Vield appointed Commissioner. The same order appoints Arthur Gastinel recorder of the Second District, he having been declared ineligible by the Supreme Court when elected, but eligible.

ALABAMA.

THE ELECTION PROGRESSING.

MONTGOMERY, February 5.—Eleven hundred votes were polled to-day, including six white men, four of them candidates. The election is progressing quietly.

MOBILE, February 5.—The votes polled yesterday and to-day were 3,536 colored and 36 white.

ATLANTA, February 5.—The Convention passed the relief clause—yeas eighty-two, nays forty-five. It denies jurisdiction to the Courts over all debts contracted prior to the surrender, but leaves it discretionary with the majority of the Legislature to confer jurisdiction in all cases except as to the purchase of slaves.

Richardson, the member of the Convention who was shot by Simmons on the third instant, will probably not recover.

ARKANSAS.

LITTLE ROCK, February 5.—In the Convention to-day the Committee on Penitentiary made a report which, among other things, charged the Legislature with sending a delegation to Washington to revel in debauchery and drunkenness with the President, thus squandering a large amount of money collected by taxation. Made the special order for Friday.

Mr. Hinds, radical, offered a resolution that the Convention opposed the amalgamation of races, instructing the next Legislature to make laws prohibiting it. After various amendments, tending to bring the radicals to vote for making it a clause in the Constitution and not refer it to the Legislature, were voted down and the resolution adopted by a party vote.

County Prison Society.

The Allegheny County Prison Society met in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, on Tuesday afternoon, Joseph McKnight, President, in the chair, Mr. R. C. Miller Secretary. Prayer was offered by Dr. Clark.

Mr. Ogden offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Society be tendered to Messrs. Miner, Gildenfenny, Pittock and Aiken, for papers and magazines furnished; also, to the Western Tract and Book Society for similar favors; also, to the Young Men's Christian Association for papers and the use of their rooms.

On motion, a committee consisting of Drs. Bell and Clarke and Mr. R. C. Miller, was appointed to inquire into the case of an insane prisoner now in the Penitentiary, who had been returned from Dixmont as incurable.

Mr. Knox reported that a house had been provided with beds, stoves, &c., in which the destitute may obtain food and lodging, and requested the Society to take charge of it.

On motion of Rev. Clark, a committee consisting of Messrs. R. C. Miller, J. D. Carlisle and Dr. Gray was appointed to co-operate with the parties who have provided the house, and report at the next meeting.

Rev. A. McLaughlin, Agent of the Society, presented his first report, being for the month ending January 31st, 1868. He reports that he was gladly received by the prisoners, many of whom evinced a willingness to talk on the subject of religion. He had a pleasant conversation with Dr. McKelvy, the new physician of the Jail, who is very willing to co-operate with the Society to promote the interests of the prisoners. He reported, too, that he was received kindly and courteously by the prison officials.

Thomas H. Rabe, Esq., was unanimously elected a member of the Society.

After an extended conversation on various matters, the Society adjourned to meet in the same place on the first Tuesday of March, at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Republican County Executive Committee Meeting.

The Republican County Executive Committee held a meeting yesterday, at their rooms on Fourth street, the Chairman, Jacob H. Miller, Esq., presiding.

On motion, it was

Resolved, That the Republican voters of the various wards, boroughs and townships be requested to meet at their usual places of holding primary elections, on Saturday, the 29th inst., to elect two delegates to meet in Convention on the following Monday.

A discussion took place on the question as to whether the delegate or the "Crawford County System" should be adopted at the primary elections, which terminated by the appointment of a Committee, consisting of General A. L. Pearson, Captain C. W. McHenry and Mr. W. N. Ogden, to correspond with other County Committees as to the mode of carrying on elections, and report at a subsequent meeting.

On motion adjourned to meet on Wednesday, 19th inst.

Not Enforced.

Several months since an ordinance was passed by Councils specifying the rates to be charged by hackmen for conveying passengers and requiring every vehicle kept for that purpose to have a printed copy of the ordinance conspicuously posted within it. The ordinance was printed in large type on neat cards, but that, we believe, was the end of it, as we have been unable to discover a single one of them posted in a hack. The enforcement of this ordinance would prevent impositions, which are of daily occurrence. A case occurred yesterday, which is by no means an isolated one. A lady arriving at the Union Depot wished to go to the Allegheny Valley Depot, and took a carriage, for which she was charged one dollar, and when she remonstrated against the payment of it, was insulted by the unscrupulous driver. We hope this matter will receive the attention it requires.

Cross Suits.

Henry Thebille made information before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, charging Eliza Zee, Dortha Zee, and Louis Brannschweig with assault and battery. Eliza Zee, it appears, is a boarding house keeper at Frankstown, with whom the defendant boarded until Saturday, when he left the house. Monday he went back for his clothes and, as he alleges, was attacked and beaten by the defendants, who, after a hearing, were held for court.

Mrs. Eliza Zee then made information charging Brannschweig with assault and battery, alleging that he left her boarding house without paying his board, and returned to take his clothes away, and when she attempted to prevent him from doing so he struck her with his fist. He was committed in default of the required bail for his appearance at Court.

Serious Accident.

An accident occurred yesterday about eleven o'clock A. M., at the corner of Federal and Ohio streets, by which Mr. Jacob Borer, a resident of Ross township, was seriously injured. Mr. Borer, who is quite an old man, in company with his son-in-law, came to the city in a spring wagon, and when turning the corner named one of the front wheels came off, throwing them both out. Mr. B's head struck one of the rails of the street railway with such force as to render him unconscious for a time, and cut a severe gash on the side of his head above the right ear. He was taken up and carried to Bepler's tavern, where he received proper attention. His son-in-law fortunately escaped with but slight injuries.

THE BLACK CROOK is drawing crowded houses at the Opera House, and it is deserving all the success which has thus far attended it. Manager Canning has placed it on the stage in magnificent manner. The scenery and mechanical effects are truly magnificent, and we cannot speak in too high terms of the liberality and enterprise displayed on this occasion to afford our readers a proper idea of this greatest of modern sensations. The closing scene is the grandest combination of art and mechanical effects ever produced in Pittsburgh, and is well worth miles of travel to behold. The excellent company performs the parts allotted in very good style, and the play goes on smoothly and cleverly.

Leg Broken.—James K. Ease, a young man connected with the Sword Brick Machine, while engaged at a window in the second story of the building occupied by the company, at the corner of Canal street and Spring alley, fell to the sidewalk, a distance of twenty-five feet, and broke his left leg below the knee. Dr. Reiter reduced the fracture, and the young man was removed to his residence in the Eighth ward.

Attempted Outrage.—Sunday evening about nine o'clock, a little girl about twelve years of age, residing on Fulton street, was sent by her mother, who was sick, to Centre avenue for her aunt, and just at the corner of the streets named, she was accosted by a villian, who seized hold of her and attempted to outrage her. She managed to escape from him and ran home.

Weed Sewing Machine is all the Go.—When a person is aware of possessing the article that has taken the front seat, or that is universally acknowledged to be the best, he has ground for satisfaction. Weed does not take fits or spells when you want it to sew. Call and see it at R. H. Long's, No. 112 Grant street.

Hydrant Bursted.—Several days since a hydrant on Congress street, below Franklin, bursted, and the street has been flooded with water since. It would be well for the Street Commissioner to give the matter his attention, as the street is almost impassable.

ANOTHER EXPLOSION.

Boiler Explosion at Frankstown—One Man Killed and Another Fatally Injured—Coroner's Inquest.

A boiler explosion occurred yesterday morning about five o'clock at Frankstown, in the works of Mr. John D. Gray, resulting in the death of John Harris, the engineer, and fatally injuring his son, who was employed as fireman. At the time the accident occurred there was no one present but the engineer and fireman, consequently it is impossible to give any information in regard to it, except that learned from persons who entered the place after the accident. The mill was not running Tuesday, and consequently there was no fire under the boilers from Monday evening until yesterday morning, and the mill had been running but a short time when the explosion occurred. One of the employes of the mill had just arrived when the explosion took place, and on running in to see the cause found the fireman lying some distance from the furnace terribly bruised and scalded. He called assistance and carried the injured man to his house, which was but a short distance off, and returned to the mill for the purpose of getting some oil to dress his wounds, when he heard the groans of the engineer, and upon going to the spot whence the groans proceeded, found him under the pitman in an almost lifeless condition. He was removed at once, and conveyed to his residence, where he died in about twenty minutes afterward. The building and machinery were but slightly damaged by the accident, the only injury being the destruction of the shed which covered the boilers, and the partial destruction of the furnace. Dr. A. Arthurs was summoned and rendered the injured man all the attention possible, but his recovery is not at all probable.

Coroner Clawson was notified of the affair and summoned a jury. Several witnesses were examined relative to the cause of the explosion, who all agree that it was attributable to an insufficiency of water in the boiler. The inquest was adjourned to meet at the Mayor's office at one o'clock, to-day. The deceased was about forty-five years of age, and leaves a family of five children, three girls and two boys, one of whom is married, and the other, who was injured, is about twenty-one years.

Birmingham Council Meeting.

Birmingham Borough Council held a regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening.

Members present—Messrs. Ihnsen, Wallace, Kerr, Malone, and Schwarm.

On motion of Mr. Ihnsen, Mr. Kerr was called to preside.

The Finance Committee reported having examined Redman's bill for lumber, and found it correct; also, the bill of Kohen & Olnhausen, for the introduction of water in the lock-up, which was also correct. Warrants were ordered for the payment of both bills.

Messrs. Miller, Kocher and Eagan, livery stable proprietors, made a statement to Council of the average number of vehicles in use during the year, as follows; Miller, four carriages, four buggies and one furniture wagon; Kocher, three carriages, one spring wagon and one buggy; Egan, one carriage and two buggies.

On motion of Mr. Johnson, the paving bond of J. W. Patterson was ordered to be paid.

Mr. Bolander, being present, stated to Council that he claimed damages from the borough to the amount of $200, for the filling up of Carson street, near Joseph, thus injuring his property.

On motion of Mr. Schwarm, the case of Mr Bolander was referred to the Street Committee with power to act.

A bill of August Schmitz, to the amount of $65,88, for rent of house occupied by the Mechanics' Hose Company, was presented to Council. It appears that another party also claims the rent of this building, and Councils disposed of the matter by ordering the bill to be paid, subject to the decision of the Burgess as to who is entitled thereto.

On motion of Mr. Malone, the bill of Kim, for lumber, was referred to the Finance Committee with power to act.

On motion the following warrants were ordered to be drawn:

C. Kolbacher, attending fire plugs	$56 00
E. Rohrkaste, sundries	1 30
Jacob Schwarm, bill	95 87
M. Pate, bill	10 35
B., E. B. & S. P. Gas Co.	247 65
D. Doran, Street Commissioner	50 00
F. Fogel, High Constable	50 00
H. Hustead, night watch	62 00
F. Lundell, night watch	62 00
J. B. Weldin & Co., stationery, &c.	24 25

On motion the Council adjourned.

Grand Tournament at the Skating Rink—States Represented—A National Organization Formed.

Yesterday at the magnificent Keystone Skating Rink, Robinson street, Allegheny, was inaugurated the grand tournament about which there has been so much talk and expectation during the past few weeks. In the afternoon an informal meeting of the delegates in attendance was held when it was found that the following States were fully represented: New York, Massachusetts, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Pennsylvania, and Canada. An organization to be called the Skating Congress of America was effected and the following gentlemen were selected as officers for the ensuing year: President, T. H. A. Hervey; Vice President, E. H. Barney; Secretary and Treasurer, R. G. Hervey. The by-laws adopted were the same as those of the New York Skating Club. Mr. E. T. Goodrich, the so-called champion of America, was present and invited to take part in the contest, but refused, although every opportunity was afforded him to enrol his name. Of course his claim to the championship is forfeited by his conduct, and whoever bears away the honors at the tournament to-day, should likewise have the proud distinction which Mr. Goodrich exclusively enjoys. This afternoon has been set apart for the final trial of skatorial science and some seventeen of the most difficult movements are to be performed by the numerous contestants. A grand gala time may be anticipated. The diamond studded gold medal will be awarded during the afternoon, provided the judges can agree upon a decision.

We were in error yesterday in our item regarding the accident from a broken rail on the Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad. It occurred near Columbus, Ohio—not at Mansfield. The cars were not badly damaged, nor was there any delay in the arrival of the train at Union Depot, as the passengers were all immediately transferred into the cars remaining on the track and brought on time to the city. This is one of the best managed roads leading from the city, and on it accidents of any kind are very unusual.

Skull Fractured.—A little boy, about nine years of age, son of Mr. Shurs, of Lawrenceville, through the maliciousness or inexcusable thoughtlessness of John White, of that place, aged fourteen years, had his skull fractured Tuesday, and it is feared will not survive the injury. The boys were playing together on an embankment near a pond, which was covered with ice, when White fastened a rope around the neck of his companion and jumped from the bank dragging the boy after him, his head striking the ice and fracturing his skull.

Bigamy.—Isaac Gordon, a colored barber in Allegheny, was arrested yesterday on a charge of bigamy on oath of Mahala Bevins, a colored woman from Greensburg, who alleges that Gordon was united in marriage to her daughter on the 9th of October last, and at that time had a wife living. He was held in $500 bail for his appearance at Court.

Malicious Mischief.—Michael Burlbaugh made information before Alderman Strain, charging Robert Bhily with malicious mischief, alleging that accused maliciously cut and destroyed timber on his premises. He also made information against the same defendant for surety of the peace, for threats made. Warrant issued.

Committed.—Charles Fury and John Rowan, who were arrested a few days since on a charge of larceny, had a hearing before the Mayor yesterday, which resulted in their being committed to jail for trial. They acknowledged to having stolen a number of articles and directed the officers where to find them.

Dead Body Found.—The body of a man was found on the track of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, near Freeport, Sunday. The body was horribly mutilated, one or more trains having passed over it, and life had evidently been extinct several hours, as the body was quite cold and stiff. It was not identified.

The Gambling Hell Case.—The hearing in the case of Robert Campbell and Captain Allen, charged with keeping a gambling house, was postponed until Wednesday, the 19th inst., and the defendants held in $2000 bail each.

Fell Dead.—A horse attached to a car on the Oakland and East Liberty Passenger Railway fell dead near Oakland, Tuesday, from exhaustion.

NEW YORK LETTER.

The Newark (Naked) Spiritualists—Tom Paine Supper—The Opera.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 3, 1867.

Among current notices of discussion is the trial of the Newark (so-called) spiritualists, who were arrested on New Year's Day for exhibiting themselves at a public window in a state of nudity. The case is before the Quarter Sessions, and is exciting no little attention. The parties are a woman by the name of Reeves and her daughter, and a man the name of McEwen. The testimony is quite remarkable and would seem to prove that these people were animated by a species of religious infatuation, and that however disgusting their conduct may seem to others, it was prompted by no lewd or corrupt motives. The three, mother, daughter and man, sometimes slept together, and sometimes entirely disrobed in each other's presence, and yet the evidence goes to show that beyond the fact itself nothing improper ever occurred. The deluded creatures seem to have been laboring under the impression that by these personal exposures they were simply disciplining the soul and expelling from it all improper and impure ideas. It is clearly a case of religious insanity. Miss Reeves, the daughter, is described as very modest and of prepossessing appearance.

How many readers are aware that the birthday of the famous infidel, Tom Paine, is annually celebrated in this city? On the 27th inst, about fifty men and women sat down at a banquet, to commemorate the event, and indulged in the toasts and speech-making common to such occasions. It was an odd assembly, composed pretty much of the crack brianed philosophers, the long-haired, long-bearded spiritualists, the free dressing, free thinkers, and such other odd fish that in a city like ours can so readily be gathered together. A large proportion were Germans, and of this nationality were most of the courses. It is to be hoped the company approved of the schweine fleisch, the sakbrauten, the kartoffel-salad, pum-kernickel, the apple compote and other dishes, the mysteries of which are best known to our German friends. The toasts, and the speeches in response, glorified Tom Paine, civil and religious freedom, the French revolution, the "Age of Reason," and other subjects.

The operatic season is in full blaze; at Pike's a variety of the most popular operas has been performed, and it is a source of regret to us that Mr. Strackosh will leave for Philadelphia next week, but it is to be hoped that Mme. Lagrange and the favorite tenor of the New York public will give another season of performances in this city before the season is over. The concert of the Philarmonic Society, given at the Academy of Music last Saturday, attracted a large and select crowd, and every connoisseur of music will confess that the orchestra of that society is far superior to any other we have ever had in this city. The names of the gentlemen who are at the head of that enterprise are a sufficient guarantee for the selection of the programme, and thus we heard Spohr's beautiful overture of "Tessonda" interpreted exquisitely, and the performance of Beethoven's ninth symphony with chorus, composed of the members of the society, closing with Schiller's ode "To Tay," was imposing, and a success in every sense of the word.

Another concert given yesterday in Steinway Hall under the direction of Mr. Harrison deserves considerable mention. The most conspicuous performers were Mr. Leopold de Meyer, that graceful performer on the piano, who called forth an enthusiastic encore on the part of the audience, and that well known violinist, Mr. Ross, who gave repeated evidence of his mastership on that instrument. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Thomas, completed the interesting entertainment of the evening.

Webster Street, from Logan to Seventh, is in a deplorable condition. Both street and sidewalks are covered with ice. A water pipe bursted several days since above Logan street, and there has been a continual flow of water on the street. Yesterday a number of cellars were flooded.

Larceny by Bailee.—Bernard Saurs made information before Mayor Blackmore yesterday, charging Paul Straub and Louis Garald with larceny by bailee. They were held for a hearing this evening.

Sunday Liquor Selling.—Joseph Letzkus, hotel keeper, at Oakland, was charged before Alderman Strain, on oath of David McKelvey, with selling liquor on Sunday. A warrant was issued.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1868.

Gen. Grant's flank movement upon the position of the President was about as excellent a piece of political strategy as was ever devised, and the execution of it was equally admirable.

From the tone of the Republican press throughout the State, we conclude that the coming State Convention will renominate Gen. Hartranft for Auditor General, and Mr. Campbell for Surveyor General, almost if not quite by acclamation.

The speech of Mr. G. W. Woodward, on the currency questions, finds considerable Democratic endorsement in Pennsylvania, notwithstanding the persistent efforts of demagogues of his party to debauch their followers into demanding a prolonged era of irredeemable paper money.

A member of the House at Harrisburg has exhibited his zeal for the worthy gentlemen who hold offices in the several counties, by proposing to increase their emoluments twenty per cent. While wages in all other departments are going backwards, this advance movement will not do. When patriots cannot be found to serve the people, on the present scale of pay, it will do to offer higher inducements; but so long as fifty applicants regularly appear for every office to be filled, higher pay is not to be thought of.

The President has been talking with various individuals as to what he will do about the Alabama claims. If their respective representations may be credited he was not careful to use the same language, or to convey the same impression, to these different persons. One of his failings, as a public man, is that he talks too much, and remembers too little, on each occasion, what he said previously. However furiously he may talk concerning the claims in question, there is no probability that he will do any of the terrible things he has threatened.

Judging the democratic leaders of Pennsylvania by the sanctimonious professions they make of supreme devotion to the Constitution and the laws, when they want to wallop Congress, one would be constrained to judge them to be political saints. They roll up the whites of their eyes amazingly, and manifest a degree of horror at what they esteem unlawful proceedings, which has a touch of deep pathos in it.

Judging them by the wholesale forgery of naturalization papers, they have been proved guilty of, by indisputable testimony, many of them must be scoundrels who richly deserve cells in the penitentiaries. If this sounds harsh, read the details as given by our trustworthy Harrisburg correspondent in to-day's issue.

The Harrisburg Telegraph, with apparent seriousness, expresses astonishment that the Republican journals of this city have not broken out into unmeasured laudation of the Legislature on account of the restoration of the Connellsville charter. We cannot help suspecting the solemnity is simulated, and that beneath the assumed gravity there lurks the leer of jolliest waggery.

The Legislature took away the charter, against law and equity—not through misapprehension, but because it was paid to do the job. Year after year it refused to make restitution, because it was purchased to withhold justice. At last the power of the Supreme Court was invoked, and the Judges unanimously ordered the restoration. When the Legislature could not help itself, it gave back the franchises it wrongfully took from us.

If a rascal should plunder from our contemporary a valuable purse; should persist, in spite of the most earnest remonstrances and solicitations, in keeping it; and the aid of the police should be sought and obtained to enforce recovery: and thus the reclamation should be accomplished, would he thank the thief or the police?

The press of Allegheny, in common with its whole population, have raised their hats in profound respect to the Supreme Court. They thank the Legislature for nothing, touching this matter.

All along there have been members of the Legislature who were actuated by a nice sense of honor—a supreme regard for justice—in all their actions relative to the Connellsville bill; neither the press, nor the people of this county, have been wanting in respect for these honorable gentlemen. Faithful among the faithless, they have warm places in our gratitude, which will never cool.

PROVINCE OF THE SUPREME COURT.

The Democrats maintain that the Republicans are animated by an unquenchable desire to have Congress absorb and appropriate the legal functions of the two other co-ordinate departments of the Government. We know how liable all men are, when party contests, whether in politics or religion, run high, to deceive themselves into an apparent consciousness of their own impartiality and justice. Nevertheless, we have a full persuasion that this incrimination is not only unfounded, but that the candid and well-balanced among the Democrats do not believe it can be sustained. That considerations of party advantage enter into the existing controversy cannot be doubted. So long as popular government shall exist in this country, such considerations will find a place, and a large one, in all discussions of public affairs, and in all management in relation thereto, whether in assemblies of the people or in representative bodies. The Democrats have steadily evinced their full share of participation in this partizan bias. Men who allowed themselves to be impelled by party hopes and fears into complicity with treason, and that so very recently, and who have as yet given no indication of improved sentiments, ought to exhibit some modesty in the accusations of partizanship they bring against their opponents.

But, if it were true that the Republicans, for party ends, magnify the power of Congress, it is still more palpable that the Democrats, for the same ends, put extravagant and unsupportable estimates upon the lawful prerogatives of the Supreme Court. With almost one consent they unite in demanding that the Judiciary shall assume a function not conferred on it by the Constitution, and which it has steadily disclaimed, in order that they may reap a party advantage. That we may not rest under the imputation of asserting what we ought to prove, we submit a passage from the decision of the Supreme Court in the famous Rhode Island case, growing out of what is commonly known as Dorr's rebellion:

> "The fourth section of the fourth article of the Constitution of the United States provides that the United States shall guarantee to every State a Republican form of government and shall protect each of them against invasions; and upon the application of the Legislature or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic violence.
>
> "Under this article of the Constitution, it rests with Congress to decide what government is the established one in a State. For, as the United States guarantees to each State a Republican government, Congress must necessarily decide what government is established in the State before it can determine whether it is republican or not. And, when the Senators and Representatives of a State are admitted into the councils of the Union, the authority of the government under which they are appointed, as well as its republican character, is recognized by the proper constitutional authority. And its decision is binding upon every other department of the Government, and could not be questioned in a judicial tribunal. It is true that the contest in this case did not last long enough to bring the matter to this issue, and as no Senators and Representatives were elected under the authority of the government of which Mr. Dorr was the head, Congress was not called upon to decide the controversy. Yet, the right to decide is placed here and not in the Courts."

Now, this is not only good sense, but good law. From the beginning of the government down to a very recent period, the Supreme Court has uniformly held that it had nothing to do with purely political questions, those topics pertaining exclusively to the jurisdiction of Congress. Having these decisions in mind, and believing them to be solidly bottomed on the Constitution, Congress, in the great emergency that has overtaken the nation, has seen proper to exercise the authority conferred upon it by the organic law, as expounded by the Supreme Court.

What have we now? Why, the Democrats, conjecturing that this will not work to the profit of their party, insist that the Supreme Court shall commit mutiny against itself; shall reverse all its past rulings upon this class of subjects; shall not only invade and divide the authority of Congress, but shall absolutely ignore and altogether set it aside. The Court is the only department of the government they can use at all for the effectual accomplishment of their party schemes, and they seek to erect it into a species of despotism over the representative bodies.

Of course, while doing this they make loud professions of zeal for the Constitution; for the due balance of powers; and of contempt for the perversion of either of the three arms of government into an instrument of party success. We do not allow much for an assumed sincerity which wears the mask of hypocrisy so loosely that all the features of duplicity are seen behind it.

A CONVENTION PROPOSED.

Mr. Mann, of Potter county, has introduced into the House of Representatives at Harrisburg a joint resolution submitting the question of holding a Convention to revise the Constitution to the people at the election to be held next October. Of course, this resolution does not contain a scheme of amendments, desirable or undesirable. Such embodiment would be out of place in a proposition of this sort. Only the naked question is presented of allowing the people, through representatives chosen for that special purpose, to alter or modify the organic law under which they live. This question will not necessarily involve any other; nor is it probable that it could be made to assume a party character. If the Convention should be decided upon, it is now likely some of the changes submitted would become matters of party contention; but even this result could be measurably avoided by appointing a special election for the ratification or rejection of the instrument, either as a whole or in separate sections.

Probably every thoughtful man in the Commonwealth would be glad to have the Constitution changed in one or more particulars. It is reasonable to presume that if a Convention should be held public opinion, as to changes, would be found in a somewhat chaotic condition, but a decided majority would concur in demanding amendments on certain heads.

Whether the present is a suitable time to take up this matter may well be debated in view of results developed elsewhere. We have fallen upon a transitionary epoch as to ideas; and hence there is no small amount of incertitude and ferment. It seems to us that the period appropriate to discussion has not yet been exhausted, and that to precipitate a verdict on either of several points would at best be to consume time and means to no avail, and might throw ultimate consummation still farther into the future. We apprehend this is the view the Legislature will adopt, and upon which its action will be based.

We do not make these suggestions because we are anxious to escape responsibility on any of the points likely to arise in a revision of the Constitution; but because we fear a Convention called at this time would furnish another illustration of the maxim, "the more haste, the less speed." When discussion shall have done its work, and public opinion shall have more nearly crystalized, we shall rejoice to have a Constitutional Convention summoned.

Steel for Railroad Purposes.

A writer in the Philadelphia Bulletin strongly urges the general adoption in this country of steel rails on railroads. With philosophical nicety he shows that such rails would prove the best preventives known against accidents, inasmuch as steel has tensile strength double that of iron, and transverse strength equally great when properly adapted for railway uses; and as it is a homogeneous metal not liable, like iron, to be effected by extremes of temperature. A good quality of steel rails will readily bend at a right angle, or will even double up cold without fracture in frosty weather; although it requires a far greater pressure than iron in bending. The enduring qualities of the steel rail have already been shown in England to be over twenty-fold greater than iron. The first cost of the steel, however, being double that of iron, prevents many railway companies from laying it on the main line of their track, and it is yet deemed good policy by many roads to continue the use of iron rails with all their risks, and at an average life of only five years, rather than go to the expense of a first cost of double the iron in putting down steel, which has already been proved to outwear twenty iron. Could stockholders be contented to build their roads for posterity, there is no doubt steel would quickly come into very general use, as an interest account at 6 per cent., added to the first cost of iron rails at to-day's prices, with a re-rolling every five years for a hundred miles of track, would in a century make the gross cost of the iron track $29,000,000, whilst the steel would be but $10,500,000, provided it endured twenty times as long as iron. How much would be saved by the use of steel in the rolling stock account, and in freedom from accidents and comfort of passengers, it would be difficult to estimate.

Not only, however must we employ steel rails, solid steel frogs, steel axles, steel wheels, steel boiler plates and steel tires have also become a necessity. The steel tire question is one already definitely settled, and although only a few years have elapsed since their introduction, iron tires are almost a forgotten thing in railway uses. After broken rails, perhaps no more fruitful cause of accident exists on our express trains than broken wheel flanges. It is too much to expect of cast-iron that it shall stand the increased strain which the accelerated motion of passenger trains constantly demands of it under all variations of temperature. Only cast-steel wheels or wrought-iron wheels, with cast steel tires, can be expected to bear the continued strain which the rapid motion of the cars too often places upon the wheels. Scarcely less important is the use of cast-steel axles, which are now becoming so generally in demand with first-class railways. Solid cast-steel frogs or crossings are also generally being brought into use in this country, although very largely used in Europe for some years. As no part of the permanent way receives harder use than the frogs, switches and crossings, the advantage of making these of one piece of solid, toughened cast-steel will be easily perceived.

Gift Enterprises.

Americans have dearly earned their reputation of being the most gullable race of people on the face of the globe. While they like to humbug their neighbors they can good humoredly stand a large quantity of shrewd humbugging. This peculiarity of the people has developed a class of sharpers who are keen on every occasion to take undue advantage of the simplicity or, perhaps, the cupidity of their neighbors. The grand swindles under the caption of "Gift Enterprises," notwithstanding the fact that a large proportion of the people have been again and again victimized by them, are still flourishing and prove attractive to the weak minded who have dollars to invest. In New York there are a score of firms engaged in this species of lottery and singular to say all make it pay handsomely. On Saturday, the "Merchants' and Bankers' Grand Presentation Scheme," the fraud advertised by Clark, Webster & Co., was again before Justice Dowling. Mr. De Forest, of Brooklyn, had purchased tickets. He received a note from the swindlers, informing him that he had drawn a watch worth $300, and inviting him to call and receive it. He called, and was requested to deposit $10. Mr. De F. wanted to see the watch. It was handed to him. He pocketed it and walked away, but was arrested for theft and taken before Justice Dowling, who advised him to enter a formal complaint against Clark, Webster & Co. for swindling. This he did, and the Justice issued a warrant for the arrest of the firm. On this warrant Henry Elias, the head of the concern, and several clerks were taken into custody and held for examination.

Another called "The Co-operative Gold and Silver Lead Mining Association," located at 234 Broadway, promises for $100 to give transportation (to which point not stated), a year's maintenance, $100 in wages, 160 acres of land (location not stated,) and your share of the profit of the enterprise. Let our readers, if there be any silly enough to listen to these magnificent thieves, beware of investing.

Civilization in Remote Districts—Gold Discoveries.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

Lima, January 13, 1868.

In the midst of the revolution with which our country is at present effected, it may be interesting to your readers to know that steps have been made for the introduction of civilization, even in the most remote districts of the Republic. The report made to the Secretary of the Navy by Captain Mariano Adrian Vargas, commander of the corvette "Napo," of the banks of the Upper Maranon and Morova has lately been published in full, and shows that the country which he has visited with his command abounds in immense wealth. After having explored the Morova, the expedition proceeded up the Maranon from its mouth to Naedemjara, where they had to stop for want of provisions and because they met with creeks which the previous heavy rains had made impassable. In regard to the gold washing in the Maranon, the chief of the expedition assures that there is no illusion about it. He says that he has seen and examined the gold, and has convinced himself of its abundance. According to his statement the lazy Indians of those regions go to the shore with a simple wooden tray, and wash the gold, which they deliver to a few tradesmen, who give them axes, hatchets and knives in exchange. Thus they work for an hour and a half or two at the utmost, until the sun rises, and then lie down in the shade of some tree all day long and only stir again when an opportunity presents itself for making another exchange. During these two hours of work every Indian can gather two or three ounces of gold, which shows sufficiently the abundance of the precious metal. The Captain winds up his report by recommending a colonizing expedition to start for those regions and is sanguine of a favorable result. He represents the soil to be very productive and adapted to the cultivation of coffee and all sorts of fruit. Capt. Vargas has arrived at Lima, in order to give to the Government a personal account of his expedition, and brought with him some gold, which has influenced a number of persons to a desire of emigrating, and it appears that the Captain himself has a sincere wish to return to that part of the country.

New Method of Lighting Streets and Public Places.

Paris is leading the way to a general reform in the matter of lighting streets and public places by night. A correspondent of the St Louis Republican grows quite enthusiastic over a recent public experiment made in front of the Hotel de Ville, a few nights ago, on the new method invented by Messrs. Tessier du Mothay and Marachals. To judge by the effect produced by the scientific judges who were present, and the applause of the surrounding crowd, the experiment proved a great success. When placed in competition and juxtaposition with new lights, the old fashioned gas burners looked just what the lanterns of former days would do beside the former. The new method consists simply in procuring the complete combustion of the ordinary gas by the application of oxygen. The supply is communicated by a small tube in the centre of the ordinary gas light; and the effect, as estimated by the photometer, is to produce a light sixty times the intensity of the ordinary process of consumption. Indeed, by the judgment of all present, it will be necessary that the luminous power should be moderated and deprived of its too "dazzling" effects by being passed through ground or colored glasss, should the method come into common use. Now there is nothing very novel in the fact of a very brilliant light being produced by a supply of oxygen. But then to do so, has been found a very expensive process, entirely unfit for general application. The boast of Messrs. Mothay & Marechel is that they have discovered the means of effecting this at a very cheap rate. They procure their oxygen from the common atmosphere. How or by what means they do this is their secret. But they have succeeded in procuring it at such a rate that their oxygen costs them only 72 centimes the cubic meter, or about a fifth of the usual cost. Their calculation, therefore, is that three cubic meters of ordinary gas plus four cubic meters of oxygen, costing together only a cut nine francs, will give as much light as 150 cubic meters of ordinary gas, of the value of 54 francs. The inference is that, with experience we may now light our streets three or four times as effectually at half the expense.

No Building this Spring.

Philadelphia capitalists are slow to embark in any building enterprises on account of the present general stagnation in business. During the past year a large number of houses were put up in that city, and it is thought there will be no demand for either store rooms or dwellings this spring, which cannot easily be supplied. Should the determination not to invest any more capital in building, a large number of bricklayers, stone masons, carpenters and laborers will be thrown out of employment and forced to seek new homes.

—The Earl of Derby made Christmas presents of nothing to his poor tenants on his Tipperary estates.

A Sufferer from Dyspepsia

Is of all men the most miserable, and how very prevalent is this disease among all classes. The causes of this malady are so numerous that it would require a volume to describe them. The primary cause, however, is a disturbance of the digestive organs; the food, instead of undergoing that chemical change which should fit it for the sustainment of the system, often lies for hours in the same state as when first taken; in this case there is a feeling of an oppressive weight in the stomach, the sleep is disturbed, and the whole body seems utterly exhausted and broken down. Yet this universal and distressing malady is controlled and cured, speedily, safely and surely, by

Truth Stranger than Fiction

Newark, Licking Co., Ohio, Aug. 19, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gentlemen: My wife having received so much benefit from your Bitters, I deem it my duty to give testimony in their favor. About one and a half years since she had a very severe attack of Dysentery, or Bloody Flux, which became chronic and continued for the above period of time, baffling the most skillful physicians in the country. We finally became discouraged, and gave up all hope of her recovery, when, by accident, my attention was called to your most valuable Bitters, by Messrs. Collins & Thurston, Druggists, handing me one of your Almanacs. Finding them recommended for Bloody Flux I bought one bottle, and commenced giving according to directions; and before one third of the bottle had been taken she was entirely cured, and enjoys perfectly good health at this time.

Most respectfully yours,

W. D. NUITER.

Branchville, Ala., March 11, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa.—Dear sirs: I am hardly able to express my gratitude for the benefit I have derived from the use of your STOMACH BITTERS. I have been afflicted with liver complaint and dyspepsia for more than five years, from which I suffered no little. My physicians failed to give me permanent relief. I became melancholy and unhappy; my constitution was much broken down by using mercury. Accidentally meeting with one of your Almanacs it induced me to procure a few bottles of your Bitters, which afforded me very great relief; and it is my sincere opinion that they will soon effect a permanent cure. I was pronounced incurable, and my recovery through your Bitters will be little short of a miracle. My neighbors express surprise at seeing me so much improved in health, and look upon my rapid recovery as wonderful.

Gratefully yours,

ROBT. F. NEWTON, P. M.

Chronic Diseases.

The functions of the human body give way, usually one at a time. A disordered liver, or a slight irritation of the bronchial tubes, an obstruction in the skin or of the renal organs, are sure to be followed by pains and aches in various parts, according to the extent of the organic or functional injury. A man afflicted with dyspepsia will soon find more than the stomach at fault. The food that he swallows fails to renew the natural wear and waste, the worn out matter is deposited in some nook or cranney, where it causes irritation or pain, when it ought to be thrown off and carried out of the system. Hundreds and thousands of just such sufferers have been relieved and restored to health and vigor by a few bottles of DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER, which not only imparts tone to the stomach and digestive organs, but likewise enriches the blood with the elementary principles needful to the restoration of the vital energy of the system. Be careful when you ask for it to get DR. KEYSER'S, for that is the kind, and the only kind, that has cured the numberless cases of disordered and broken constitutions. It was that which cured Mr. Boyd. It was that which cured John Titzell. It was that which cured Margaret McFarland. It was Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher which cured all the old chronic cases which we have published from time to time in these columns. Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher has cured more cases of chronic disease than any medicine of recent origin. Sold by the gross, dozen, or single bottle, at the Doctor's great medicine store, No. 140 WOOD STREET.

The proceedings of the State Legislature, at its forthcoming session, will also prove interesting, inasmuch as many questions of importance will come up for legislation. The GAZETTE will keep at the State Capital, during the entire session, an intelligent and faithful correspondent, who will promptly report the proceedings by mail and telegraph.

It is the only political journal of Pittsburgh which faithfully reflects and steadily advocates the principles held by the Union Republican Party, and interpreted by a loyal Congress.

It gives as much reading matter as any paper sold at twelve dollars per annum, while its price is but eight, being the cheapest as well as the largest newspaper in the Commonwealth.

With the enlargement, every department has been strengthened. The high character of its editorial columns will be maintained, and all questions of public importance will be fearlessly discussed.

The news department will be kept up to the requirements of the day, and in condensed items will faithfully mirror all the transactions worthy of note of the City, State, Country and world at large, and maintain for the GAZETTE the reputation of a live, enterprising and first class family and commercial newspaper.

Ample space has been reserved for market reports, which can at all times be relied upon as correct, as the current quotations for manufactures, farm products, cattle, &c., &c., are daily gathered from actual sales, by faithful and efficient reporters.

The river news is collected with care, and will prove a very interesting feature of the GAZETTE.

The financial news department has been placed in charge of an able and experienced banker, who will render it quite an attractive and useful specialty to bankers, brokers and business men generally.

The religious department will receive the attention due its importance, and will be so conducted as to be pleasing and readable to members of all religious denominations.

The agricultural, art, science, literary, personal and other departments of the paper will be conducted in a manner which will prove satisfactory to the reader.

TERMS OF THE DAILY GAZETTE.

Three Months	$2.00.
Six Months	4.00.
One Year	8.00.

Delivered in Pittsburgh, Allegheny and all the adjacent Boroughs for 15 cents per week, payable to Carriers.

THE WEEKLY GAZETTE.

The WEEKLY GAZETTE has been enlarged to the same size as the Daily, and is now the largest, cheapest and best weekly family newspaper in the State. It should be in the house of every farmer, mechanic and business man. It gives each week forty solid columns of current news by telegraph and mail, the leading editorials of the daily, and a choice selection of literary and scientific items, together with everything important pertaining to the world of politics. Its agricultural columns will be edited in such a manner as to find favor with the farmer and gardener. The market reports of the WEEKLY GAZETTE are by common consent acknowledged to be the standard authority for both buyers and sellers, and in commercial circles in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Western Virginia are without equal. The files of the GAZETTE are used exclusively by the Civil Courts of Allegheny county, as reference in important issues, to determine the ruling prices in the markets at the time of the business transaction in dispute.

Our Agents will favor us by getting up their clubs at once, and not allowing their present ones to expire, as we are anxious that none of our readers should be deprived of a week's news. Additions to clubs can be made at any time, at yearly rates. Postmasters and Merchants are requested to act as Agents.

TERMS FOR THE WEEKLY GAZETTE.

ORPHANS' COURT SALE.
BY VIRTUE OF AN ORDER issuing out of the Orphans' Court of Allegheny County, I will offer for sale on the premises, on TUESDAY, 3d DAY OF MARCH, 1868,
AT TEN O'CLOCK A. M.,
The following Real Estate, the property of ALEXANDER BURNS, late of said township, deceased, to wit:
The undivided one-half part of a certain farm in Findley township, Allegheny county, containing Two Hundred Acres, (200 acres,) more or less, bounded on the northwest by lands of Andrew McHenry, Jacob Guy, Oliver Burns, Robert McClarren and Samuel Byers; on the north by lands of John Byers, on the west by land of Tassahill's heirs; on the south by lands of Thomas Burns' heirs; and on the east by lands of Joseph Young. Two thirds of the farm is cleared and in a high state of cultivation; the other third is covered with a dense and heavy growth of the finest oak timber in the county, which renders this one of the most valuable and desirable farms in the neighborhood. A portion of the farm is underlaid with an excellent vein of black coal, convenient of access. On the premises are erected a double log barn, log stable and frame shop.
The one-half of the above interest is held under an amicable partition among the heirs of William Burns, deceased, dated June 18, 1857, and recorded in Deed Book vol. 120, page 873; and the other half under deed from Thomas Burns and wife, dated May 21, 1864, and recorded in vol. 193, page 102.
TERMS OF SALE—One-half cash on the confirmation of sale and delivery of the deed, and the other half in two equal annual payments, with six per cent. interest, secured by bond and mortgage on the premises. The sale to be secured by a deposit of two hundred dollars.

J. B. HARRIS'
SAFETY FIRE JACKET,
For Smoke and Hot Air Flues.
HAVING OBTAINED OF THE UNITED STATES letters patent for a SAFETY JACKET, which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to chimneys, dwellings, factories, ships, steam boats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes or conductors are made dangerous by being overheated, and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

MEMORY.

BY FITZ GREENE HALLECK.

[Written in 1816 and never before Published.]

Strong as that power, whose strange control impels the torrent's force;
Directs the needle to the pole,
And bids the waves of ocean roll
In their appointed course;
So powerful are the ties that bind
The scenes of childhood to the mind;
So firmly to the heart adheres
The memory of departed years.

Whence is this passion in the breast?
That when the past we view,
And think on pleasures, once possessed,
In Fancy's fairest colors dressed,
Those pleasures we renew!
And why do Memory's pains impart
A pleasing sadness to the heart?
What potent charm to all endears
The days of our departed years?

True—many a rosebud, blooming gay,
Life's opening path adorns;
But all who tread that path will say,
That 'mid the flowers which strew its way,
Are care's corroding thorns.
Yet still the bosom will retain
Affection ev'n for hours of pain;
And we can smile, though bathed in tears,
At memory of departed years.

'Tis distance, our bewildered gaze
On former scenes beguiles,
And memory's charm the eye betrays;
For while enjoyment it displays
And robes the past in smiles,
Its flattering mirror proves untrue,
Conceals the sorrow from our view,
And hides the griefs, the doubts and fears,
That darkened our departed years.

Time, when our own, we oft despise—
When gone, its loss deplore;
Nor till the fleeting moment flies
Do mortals learn its worth to prize,
When it returns no more.
For this an anxious look we cast,
With fond regret, on hours long past—
For this, the feeling heart reveres
The memory of departed years.

—From Hours at Home.

EPHEMERIS.

—We have received several poetical contributions which we are unable to publish on account of their length. Much as we regret this, the crowded state of our columns renders it imperative.

—The dog tax in Vermont yields that State a tax of $10,000.

—Omaha has a billiard hall the fitting up of which cost $20,000.

—Louisville is complaining of the dusty state of the streets.

—Henry Vincent lectured on Monday evening, in Louisville, on "Oliver Cromwell."

—Mrs. Lander will begin an engagement on Monday evening next at Crosby's Opera House.

—The honorable and liberal Asa Packer wants to be our next President on a Democratic platform.

—Arkansas gets up just about as many assassinations of Union men now-a-days as she did before or during the war.

—The Southern Relief Association is very active in its work of forwarding provisions to the sufferers in the South.

—Wendell Phillips objects to the Social Science Association, and in turn the Association thinks that Mr. Phillips is a social evil.

—Brother Brice, a member of a lodge in the Island of Jersy is said to be the tallest mason in Europe. He is almost eight feet high.

—It took a drunken man to note what philosophers failed to wonder at, that water whenever it freezes does so with the slippery side up.

—A burlesque on "Under the Gas Light" has been brought out successfully in Cincinnati. It is entitled "Under the Kerosene Lamp."

—The present Legislature of Ohio, knowing that its chances and time are few and short, is going quickly through its laws inserting the word white.

—Napoleon's boy will be twelve years old in March. His chances of succeeding his father for any length of time on the throne of France seem to be very slight.

—Many of our skatists can cut a number of things on the ice, but most of them are excelled by the Princess Metternich, who cuts a dash every time she appears.

—A Newark, N. J., firm of brewers is reported to have purchased $8,000,000 worth of salt. The beer of the firm, it is hoped, will be better after this enormous outlay.

—Lord Brougham has at last succumbed. He has been deprived of the use of his limbs, and he can no longer articulate, yet his mind is as clear and robust, apparently, as ever.

—The Brooklyn Eagle says that the crowning act of British cruelty is shown in allowing G. F. Train to lecture in Ireland. It is just the last straw, which this unfortunate people cannot bear.

—Otis Tufts, the inventor of that most modern of hotel luxuries, the passenger lift, has just put one up in the American House, Boston, which it is said surpasses everything else of the kind in the world.

—The Mexican banker, Jacker, is, so says L' Independence Belge, in Paris for the purpose of bringing suit against the French Government for the payment of thirteen millions of francs. We wish he may get it.

—For years no civil service appointment has caused so much dissatisfaction or given rise to so much newspaper discussion in England as has that of Mr. Thornton, the new Minister to the United States.

—Detroit is said to be the largest fur market in this country. The amount of that sort of wealth which reaches that city during the year is immense. Leipsig, in Germany, is the greatest fur market in the world.

—The family of Mr. Boyle, residing in Cincinnati, was poisoned with arsenic which was mixed with some food last week. Nobody died from its effects however, and the perpetrator of the deed is thus far unknown.

—A thriving business is said to be carried on in many large cities by persons who do nothing but frequent crowds to pick up whatever their careless neighbors may drop. This is a sort of lawful pocket-picking which is quite new to us.

—Edward Edwards, an old citizen of Cincinnati, and purser on the Alabama at the time of its action with the Kearsarge, was murdered last month near Vicksburg by a colored man who robbed him of all his clothing and everything he had about his person.

—New London intends to squelch New Bedford completely some day in the whale business. Five vessels are fitting out there for the Greenland whale fisheries, and many more will be forthcoming just as soon as the supply of petroleum gives out.

—Louisville is to have a mechanics' reading room and library. A reading room and library for corner loafers would be an institution which should be well patronized in this city, as the persons for whose benefit it would be, seem to have unlimited leisure.

—It seems that in other cities than ours coasting is winked at. On Saturday, in William street, Baltimore, a boy had his leg fractured badly in two places while racing on his sled. Another boy, the same morning, had his leg broken in the same way on Monument street.

—At last the ubiquitous, rascal, gentleman, thief, murderer, christian, soldier, statesmen, in fact everything, John Smith has been disposed of. A Cincinnati court convicted him of murder in the second degree, and he has been sentenced to imprisonment in the State's prison for life.

—James Love is to be hung on Friday next, near Maysville, Ky., for committing a rape upon a young girl. If capital punishment is righteous, if legal murder is politic and proper, then the crime for which the man Love is to die, should, as surely as is murder, be punished with death in every part of the land.

—The people of Washington City have revenge at last. Mr. Dickens was perhaps more severe on that town, in his works on America, than he was on any other place in America. Washington has achieved at length a revenge. It has touched the novelist in his most tender place—the pocket. All of the tickets to Mr. Dickens's readings in the Capital were not sold; or, we should say, some of them were not sold, and the great Boz is stricken at last. If we estimate his character aright, we shall have another and severer article on Washington some day.

A GREAT FAMILY CONVENIENCE.

A new and novel arrangement for having

HOT WATER BOILERS

attached to the back end of common cook stoves, so that the waste blaze which goes up the stove-pipe heats all the water needed in an ordinary sized family, by passing the blaze directly through the boiler, which sits over the pipe hole of the stove. This new arrangement can be put on to any No. 7, 8 or 9 common Cooking Stove, of any manufacture. Any person having a TRIUMPH, VICTORY, BLACK OAK, BEAUTY or UNION STOVE, or almost any other Cook Stove made in the Union, can have Boilers attached to their Stoves, including the Attachment, the Boiler and Lids, and Bibb Cock, for the moderate cost of SEVEN DOLLARS, by applying to

ORPHANS' COURT SALE.

Splendid Mansion and Grounds.

On TUESDAY, February 25th, 1868, at 1 o'clock P. M., will be sold at auction, by order of Orphans' Court, an outlot on the Eastern border of the Borough of Beaver, containing about TEN ACRES. About one-half is a beautiful grove, the residue well improved and planted with apple and peach trees, and a variety of small fruits and shrubbery. The improvements comprise a fine two story BRICK MANSION HOUSE, with four rooms on each floor, exclusive of kitchen, wash house and coal house. A good well and cistern and large barn.

The location is one of the most picturesque and beautiful in Beaver county, commanding a fine view of the Ohio and Beaver rivers, and of the several villages that cluster near their confluence. It is also extremely eligible with reference to Schools, Churches, Railroad Stations, &c. Probably no place now in the market combines so many conveniences and attractions suited to a gentleman that desires for his residence a spot at the same time secluded from the noise and din of business and quickly and easily accessible from Pittsburgh. This property was the homestead of Charles Stone, Esq., late of Beaver. Terms, which will be easy, made known at time of sale.

Persons visiting this Estate will be attended to and all questions answered by Capt. D. H. STONE, Executor of the estate of Charles Stone, residing on adjoining lot. ja25:k51

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

THE COURTS.

United States Court—Judge McCandless.

WEDNESDAY, February 5.—The case of the United States vs. Daniel B. Miller, indictment counterfeiting, was concluded, the jury finding a verdict of not guilty. The defendant was discharged.

Robert Black and Wm. A. Thompson, indicted for robbing the Postoffice in this city, were called up for trial. Black plead guilty, and the trial of William A. Thompson was proceeded with. Among the witnesses called for the prosecution was Robert Black, who testified substantially the same as he did at the hearing before the United States Commissioner, admitting his own guilt and implicating Thompson. Verdict guilty.

The circumstances of this robbery will be recollected. Supplying themselves with keys, the prisoners opened the lock boxes at the postoffice, and in this way secured letters of merchants and others with valuable contents, carrying on this system of robbery for a considerable time. Postoffice department "specials," with large pay and not much to do, endeavored to nose out the perpetrators, and meeting with no success, and unable to account for the robberies on any other hypothesis, insinuated that the stealing was done on the inside. The credit for the apprehension of Black and Thompson belongs directly to Captain William Dalgleish, one of the city Postoffice employes, as he it was who discovered one of the thieves, Black, in the act of stealing letters, and by prompt action secured his arrest. Thompson was caught in New York, by endeavoring to negotiate a check taken from a stolen letter.

District Court—Judge Williams.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 5—In the case of City of Pittsburgh vs. Christopher Zug (already reported) the jury found a verdict in favor of plaintiff for the sum of $1,893 16, and that defendant did consent to change of grade.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Sterrett.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 5.—Court met at the usual hour.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs Catherine Flaherty, indicted for assault and battery on oath of Bridget Willestein, the jury convicted. Sentence deferred.

George S. Little was indicted for assault and battery on oath of Michael Klinehoffer. The parties, who reside in Sewickly, had a difficulty, which culminated in Little striking Klinehoffer a severe blow. Defendant did not deny the striking, but offered testimony that the prosecutor first drew a revolver and snapped it at him (defendant) two or three times, to show that the blow was given in self defense. The jury acquitted and directed that the prosecutor pay the costs.

Caroline Hyland pleaded guilty to an indictment charging her with malicious mischief, in demolishing a window in the tavern of J. P. Pearson, in Lawrenceville. Her plea was "guilty, but drunk." Sentenced to pay a fine of one dollar and to undergo ten days imprisonment.

Ann Patton was convicted of the larceny of a pair of hose from the store of Macrum & Glyde. Sentence deferred.

Leonard Snyder was tried for malicious mischief in shooting a horse of Edward Nau, in Reserve township. The defence set up was that the horse was trespassing in his patch of kartoffeln. Jury out.

Ann Howard was placed on trial on an indictment for obtaining groceries from Fidele Weiss, at Four Mile Run, to the amount of forty-eight dollars under false representations that she had six hundred dollars in bank and also that Charles Jeremy, a well known citizen, was indebted to her in the sum of three hundred dollars. On trial.

In Search of a Retail Store.

A green-appearing genius, on his first visit to Boston, observed a sign over a store thus: "Wholesale and Retail Store." He worked his way through the crowd of ladies until he faced one of the clerks, who was exhibiting some articles to a young lady, when he broke out:

"Say, mister, who's boss here?

"The proprietor has just stepped out, Sir."

"Well, is this a retailing store?"

"Yes, sir, a wholesale and retail store."

"Guess you understand your trade?"

"Oh, yes," replied the clerk, wrapping up a bundle for his customer, "what can I do for you?"

"Well, as the cold weather is coming on I thought I mout as well come and give you a job."

"I don't understand you, sir," replied the clerk, who began to think the fellow had got in the wrong box.

"'Zactly so; well, I'll tell you."

"Explain what you mean, my friend," said the clerk, as he saw him produce a bundle from under his coat.

"Well, as I said before, the cold weather is coming on, and I thought I might as well be fixed for it. Come mighty near freezin t'other winter, I tell you I did: bu—"

"I hope you will tell me what you want, so I may serve you."

"Certainly, squire certainly; I always do business in a hurry, and just as quick as the old master will let you, I want you to retail these old shirts—let 'em come down about to the knees, kase I don't wear drawers."

The effect can be imagined, but as the novelists say, can't be described.

The Beggar's Day in Paris.

A Paris correspondent gives a curious account of a scene in Paris on New Year's Day. The principal sight the promenaders on the fashionable boulevards and avenues saw was interminable strings of beggars, that lined the former on both sides. There are but two days in the year on which street begging is allowed in Paris. One is the 15th of August, the Emperor's fete day, and the other the 1st of January. On these days of license, however, mendicity is carried on to an extent that is not surpassed even by the begging on holidays in Rome and Naples. I never saw such an exhibition of real and feigned human misery, as that which forced itself on my observation in every direction on yesterday.

It seemed, indeed as though all the one-armed, one-legged, blind, lame, and deformed people of both sexes and all ages from the whole of France had been emptied upon the pavement of her capital. Some begged singly, others in groups. Some sung, some prayed, while others recited the stereotyped begging phrases at the top of their voices. Some stood, some kneeled, and again many others were stretched out at full length, wrapped in rags, on the sidewalks. On the Boulevard des Italiens a dozen groups were lying along the walls of the houses, consisting of old men or women surrounded by three, four, and even six children, including babies, all pale, dirty, and ragged, and presenting together a most pitiful aspect. Most of these beggars had brought all sorts of squeaking and squealing instruments into requisition to attract the attention of the public. Besides the native contingent of mendicants, there were swarms of little Italian beggar boys and girls with violins, guitars, flutes and harps, monkeys and marmots, who clung like burs to the passers by until they had, by sheer persistency, succeeded in levying a tribute upon them. Altogether, the street sights furnished the conclusive proof that under the brilliant surface of Paris a great deal of human misery is hidden.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, February 5, 1868.

The gold market opened very dull, with a declining tendency at 141⅝, touched 141, but on intelligence received of the decline of United States bonds in Europe of from ⅛ to ¼ per cent., the market rallied and closed strong at 141⅜ to 141⅝. The opinion of three judges of the United States Supreme Court privately expressed of the unconstitutionality of the reconstruction laws gives rise to an uneasy feeling in Europe, besides the feuds between the President, General Grant and Stanton are matters little calculated to inspire confidence in the stability of the Government.

Gold is very abundant, and is an expensive article to carry, especially when held on a margin.

Bonds were lower and weak, the transactions are light, and the heavy dealers, especially foreign capitalists or their representatives, keep out of the market for the present.

Stocks were considerably lower at the first board, and very dull at noon, towards the close of business there was a slight recovery, but the purchases are confined to cover short contracts; the market is evidently not low enough yet to load up for a rise.

Business continues dull, and even the auction sales dwindle down considerably, and concessions have to be made in order to effect sales.

Closing New York quotations, received by Ph. R. Mertz, are as follows:

Gold, 141¼; 1881's, 111¾; 5-20s, 1862, 111⅝; 1864, 109; 1865, 109½; Consols, 107¾; 10-40s, 104⅛; 7-30s, 107⅜.

—We learn from Washington that the monthly exhibit of the public debt is not to be issued before the 5th instant, owing to the large drafts from various departments of the Government, and the small receipts from customs and the payment during the month, of about $30,000,000 interest on the five-twenties and 1881 bonds. The exhibit will not be so favorable as the last one. On the first of January the Treasury held $108,433,000; on the 1st of February there will be about $80,000,000.

—The Senate finance committee have during the last three or four sittings discussed the various measures before them, being Senator Henderson's funding proposition, Senator Sherman's bill, and Senator Morrill's plan. It is represented that the members of the committee are by no means unanimous on any one of these measures, and no one of them is likely to secure a majority in its favor. It is not at all improbable that the whole subject may be referred back to the Senate. The committee, however, will have another session to-day, and again consider the subject.

—The New York Tribune says that there were ten failures reported among New York business houses during last week, two of which were wholesale establishments. The liabilities averaged $50,000 per firm. There were 107 failures reported among country merchants, the aggregate liabilities of which were $635,000. Most of them have compromised by paying 15 cents on the dollar.

—The New York Times remarks regarding the currency question: No expansion of greenbacks or National Bank notes, and no conversion of the latter into the former, will probably be authorized by Congress in the present temper of the two houses. It is unofficially given out that the House Committee on Banking and Currency stand five to four in favor of the Randall bill for substituting greenbacks for National bank currency, but it is doubtful whether such a report will be made to the House after another week's reflection by the Committee. And we are assured by parties who ought to understand the chances that no such report will probably be sanctioned by the House, and certainly not by the Senate. The question, while kept open, may encourage speculators in gold, but we entertain no fear of such wholesale inflation of greenbacks; no such folly in regard to the National banking system.

—The Philadelphia Press says: The public funds, gold bearing, are increasing in credit and advancing in prices, in the firm belief that Congress will do nothing to impair the faith of the Government pledged to their payment. They are further strengthened by the opinion that the Committee of Ways and Means of the House, and the Finance Committee of the Senate, in adjusting the minimum of taxation and the maximum of expenditure, will provide at an early day, for stopping the issue of gold bearing stocks at two thousand million of dollars. The Secretary has five and a half months in which to buy up a sufficient sum of the 7-30 per cents. convertible into 5-20s to bring the funding process to a close at this maximum. And if by a much closer economization of his gold and currency balances than heretofore, he still finds his means sufficient, Congress could readily provide the remedy in some form of short date obligation, interest and principal payable in currency. The cost of buying up, as we believe he is now doing, the seven-thirty per cents, has already been compensated to the Treasury by his sale of five-twenties and the premiums thereon, to the excess of $130,000,000 since the act of April 12, 1866, when the funded stocks and outstanding seven thirty per cents amounted together to about the exact total of thousand millions.

—Says the Cincinnati Gazette, of Tuesday: To-day was a repetition of Saturday intensified in the money market. Large amounts of currency were sent to the country—principally Southern points—and local checking was heavy, which, with the previous drain on the National Banks through Treasury drafts, has so reduced the working capital as to make the market quite stringent. Rates of interest are firm between bankers and their depositors at 8 to 10 per cent., and not much paper is taken while the demand is very active. In the open market also there is a pressure for loans, and first-class paper can be had at 12 to 15 per cent.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, February 5, 1868.

CRUDE—The Crude market is dull and unchanged. We can report a sale of one thousand bbls, on spot, at 7¼c, and three thousand bbls for March at 7½c, and these may be regarded as the ruling quotations for these particular deliveries. There was some inquiry for May the other day at 8c, but there were no sellers below 8¼c; spot oil is quiet—7 to 7¼c offered, and 7½c asked; offerings light and demand limited. The price of oil is entirely too high in the producing districts to ship to this market, and we need not expect any material improvement in business until there is a reduction there or an advance here.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil continues dull and neglected and unchanged. There was an offer for prime light straw to white to-day at 21c, but no sellers could be found. Standard white may be quoted at 21c, on spot, and 30c for all the year, buyer's option; there is some speculative inquiry for future deliveries, but prices are low, and besides, the purchasers in many cases are not altogether satisfactory.

The reports of the consolidation of the Hartford and Erie road with the Erie road, which doubtless are incorrect, had a marked effect to-day. No decision has yet been made by the Supreme Court in the Rock Island case.

RIVER NEWS.

The weather was cloudy and mild yesterday, and in the afternoon and evening there was every appearance of rain. It has been so very changeable of late, however, that there is no telling what a day may bring forth; last Sunday was almost warm enough for April, while Monday was the coldest day of the season—two degrees below zero early in the day.

The following boats are now laid up at this port: J. N. McCullough, Grey Eagle, Leni Leoti, Messenger, Columbia, R. R. Hudson, Camelia, Kate, Robinson, New York, America, Maggie Hays, Bellevernon, Wauanita, Ida Rees, Natrona, and Franklin. Towboats—Teteran, Dexter, Coal Bluff, Ben Franklin, Ajax, O. H. Ormsby, Rover, Alps, Eagle, Warner, Lioness, Tom Farrow, Sam Roberts, Panther, Antelope, Star, Hercules, Grey Hound, Tom Rees, N. J. Bigley, and Greenback. Of the above the Kate Robinson is loading for Cincinnati and Louisville; Camelia for Nashville; and Messenger for St. Louis.

The insurance on the steamer Clara Dolsen, burned at St. Louis night before last, is as follows: Citizens', Eureka, Western, Boatmen's, and Manufacturers' and Merchants, all of Pittsburgh, for five thousand dollars each.

The St. Louis Democrat does not believe the statements of the Louisville papers that the Richmond landed over twenty-seven hundred tons of freight at New Orleans; but on the contrary, alleges, and with good reason, too, that the cargo of the Great Republic was the largest ever taken into the Crescent City by one boat. The Democrat asks the Louisville Courier to explain away its mis-statements, and yield the palm to its rightful owner, the Great Republic.

The police jury of Algiers, Louisiana, have notified, in accordance with the old law, the proprietors of the Bouligny plantation to repair the levee at that place. Over three acres of the plantation settled down in twenty feet of water. The slide threatens the whole levee in that vicinity. Should a big break occur there, the inundating waters would swamp the whole parish of Plaquemine, and come up behind Algiers.

The report of the survey of the Tennessee river is now nearly completed, and will be ready to be forwarded to Congress in a week or two. The cost of making the river entirely navigable from Chattanooga to Paducah, will be less than one million of dollars, and it can be done in a year. It is now time for the Committee on River Improvements, appointed last summer, to begin to do something in aid of this great measure of internal improvement. Such a demonstration should be made as to induce Congress to make the necessary appropriations at once.

The steamer Gleaner was sold at Memphis on Thursday last for $12,000, cash. Martin Wall was the purchaser, and Capt. John D. Adams purchased the Centralia for $13,000. Capt. Adams also purchased the Fort Smith line, comprising the steamers Ozark, America, Van Buren and Fort Smith.

The Sherman, which boat was burned at Evansville Sunday morning, was insured for $15,000—$2,500 in the Boatmen's, of Cincinnati, and $12,500 in Pittsburgh offices.

A correspondent of the Vincennes Sun, giving some reminiscences of the ancient borough, says: "In 1823 the Wabash rose to an unusual height, and Cathinette Prairie was overflown to a considerable depth. The rise was somewhat sudden, and the inhabitants of the low grounds below town were compelled to move in town. All the water crafts that could be obtained were brought into requisition to move the people to the high lands. Keelboats, flatboats, pirogues, skiffs and canoes were manned, and after the people were brought to safe quarters, the boats continued to ply back and forth, bringing horses, cattle, sheep and hogs out of the sea of waters. It was late in the season, the weather getting cold, and there were much suffering and loss of property. The river was high in the evening, and during the night took an upward movement; some who endeavored to get breakfast on the following morning failed, because of the water putting out their fires before they could accomplish it. When the canoes and skiffs were no longer needed for the rescuing of property from the flood, they were manned by the boys, and used in picking up rabbits and other game from the floating chunks and logs on the opposite side of the river. Rare sport for juveniles.

General Warren has made a contract with D. S. Stombs, of St. Paul, for the removal of all trees and logs that may interfere with the navigation of the Mississippi river, between that city and Fremont. There are a large number of trees overhanging the bank, and partially in the water, that are liable at any time to fall in the water and make snags, which will do serious injury to navigation. Mr. Stombs is instructed to clear these out, and cut them in pieces, so that they cannot possibly become snags. He will commence at once on his work and have about a dozen men in his employ. They expect to have the work done by the time the ice is ready to leave. Captain Edwin Bell is engaged in a similar work on the Minnesota, and is chopping down all overhanging trees in the short bends of the river, so as not to interfere with steamboats "swinging the corners."

Navigation above Little Rock is suspended. The officers of the Celeste report the cotton nearly out of the lower Arkansas and times very hard; people destitute, with neither means nor credit for the production of another crop. Above Little Rock it is reversed. Planters raised bread, meat and cotton, and have some money and considerable cotton, which they will sell when they choose.

Capt. Cannon's salvage on the Indiana, it is said, will reach fifty thousand dollars.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, of Tuesday, says: The grand obstruction to navigation, which the Louisville bridge threatens to be, if built upon present plans, is engaging the serious attention of those immediately interested in the navigation and commerce of the Ohio river above that point. At the meeting of the C. C. M. Association, yesterday, a committee, consisting of Captains Geo. H. Ainslie, James S. Wise and John Rann was appointed to cooperate with gentlemen in Washington, who are endeavoring to bring the subject before Congress.

The Nashville Gazette, of Saturday, says: The Memphis, Louisville and Clarksville Railroad, which has attracted so much attention of late, seems to be a peculiarly unfortunate road. For a long time in the hands of receivers, it seems to have made rapid progress backward, and only a large measure of prosperity in the future will cover the mischances and misfortunes of the past. It is now in another difficulty; every man of its employees is on a strike because the road has not the money to pay them for their work. They held a consultation a day or two since, and decided to wait upon Dr. Cliffe, the present receiver, and notify him that it would be impossible for them to remain longer on the road without pay. Dr. Cliffe informed them that the road had no money, and that it was not in his power to pay them, much as he desired to do so. Unless some steps are taken to insure the payment of the employes, the road must suspend operations. It is thought that two men will be retained to run the mail train, and this will, for a time, be the only train running.

MEDICAL.

A GREAT CURE OF ASTHMA.

I feel myself under obligations to you as well as a duty I owe to others who have been like sufferers with myself, in order that they may know where they can get cured. I had been subject to violent, continued attacks of ASTHMA for more than six years, and had been to great expense and to various medical men of experience without obtaining any permanent relief, if relieved at all. I was so bad that I never knew what was to be free from the disease. I had to sit in bed every night for weeks and weeks, without any prospect or hope of cure. My condition was such that I felt life a burthen, and when I got an attack I felt in danger of suffocating every moment. So terrible had been my suffering that my mother says that she has seen me so near suffocation that I was nearly black in the face from the desperate efforts made to get breath. In the cold winter nights, many a night, with the doors and windows of the house thrown wide open, in order to hinder the apparent danger of strangulation. In this condition, on the 18th of October, 1866, I first heard of DR. KEYSER'S skill in curing this disease, I called on him, in company with my husband Joseph Meyers, but I must confess, with a great deal of doubt as to effecting a permanent cure. Dr. KEYSER examined me carefully, and my lungs all over, with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that with care I would get well. I persevered with his medicines for over a year, and am to-day in vigorous health, and TOTALLY FREE FROM THE ASTHMA, and its terribly disagreeable attendants. I have had, once in awhile, a slight attack of the disease, but I regard my health as entirely re-established, and if I do have any attack, a few doses of the Doctor's medicine immediately relieves it. I cannot feel too thankful for the exemption from a disease which used to cost me whole weeks and months of loss of sleep, besides suffering which none but those who are subject to this disease can fully appreciate or describe.

NANCY MEYERS,
MARY MOUNT JOY, (her mother,)
GEORGIANA FISHER.
Birmingham, Dec. 9, 1867.

The case of Mrs. Myers, recited above, is one of more than ordinary importance, because of the violence of the attacks, their continued length, and the great prostration of all the vital powers attending the disease. Any one who knew her during the time she was a sufferer from the disease of which she was cured, and will look at her now, the very picture of robust health, cannot but admit that the cure is one of more than ordinary character, inasmuch as we hear of Asthma every day of our lives, being a disease of an incurable nature. Let those who doubt investigate for themselves.

SIGHT RESTORED.

The case to which we alluded some weeks ago, of Christiana Fisher, of Beaver county, is now entirely confirmed by the appearance of Miss Fisher herself, who to-day called on DR. KEYSER in person, to thank him for his kindness and skill in restoring her to ENTIRE AND PERFECT SIGHT. Miss Fisher had been nearly blind for four months. She was so blind that she could not distinguish any object so as to make out what it was. The case is remarkable. In hundreds of cases like her's are doomed to never-ending darkness, on the flimsy pretext that there is no cure, and nothing can be done. She was under DR. KEYSER'S treatment for two months, and before she applied to him, through her brother, SIMON P. FISHER, slight hopes were entertained of her ever getting her sight. Her case is well known in the neighborhood where she resides, and has been regarded as one of extraordinary recovery.

We, the undersigned, know of the cure of Miss Fisher, and bear willing testimony to the fact above stated.

DR. KEYSER—This is the list of names that have to your advertisement of the cure of my sister, Christiana Fisher. They were all willing to put their names down, and were very much astonished to see that you brought her sight so soon. My mother sends her thanks to you; she says "you are one of the greatest men in the world." She says if we had not come across you she believes her child would not be living at this time. We all join in sending our love and respects to you.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

Statement of George Ford, carpenter, of No. 18 Sampson street, Allegheny City:

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack of pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there a called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER, and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper lobe of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I could gradually feel myself getting stronger, and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by Dr. Keyser was a medicine called LUNG CURE, which I took in connection with the other treatment.

GEORGE FORD.
PITTSBURGH, March 30, 1867.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

STATEMENT OF JOHN G. WIGHAM, OF TURTLE CREEK, ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

I was discharged from the United States army in January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough and fell away in strength and flesh and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood and, afterwards, to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DOCTOR KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under Dr. Keyser's medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved and my chest, where it was sunken away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment and medicines.

JOHN G. WIGHAM, Turtle Creek.
